PRIMARY SCHOOL TENNIS

TOUCH TENNIS

Touch Tennis is the brainchild of Rashid Ahmad. Established in 2003, it has gone from strength to strength expanding across the globe. An attractive alternative to the mainstream game, the key to touch tennis lies not in manipulating the ball with raw power but rather with stroke-play and manoeuvres. Played on a reduced size court with foam balls and 21 inch racquets, it aims to level the playing field for competitors by fostering long, intense rallies and clever angle play.

It doesn't matter whether you're young or old, male or female; the key to the game's addictiveness is the enjoyment that comes from repeatedly and intelligently outwitting opponents. Brilliant fun for all ages, the game is particularly attractive to beginners and less experienced tennis players looking to improve their hand-eye coordination.
